GROSS VIOLATION OF MEDICAL ETHICS/INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS TO INFORMED CONSENT/INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS TO REFUSE TREATMENT

Australian Medical Association attacking Health Australia Party via their usual alleged accomplices, the mainstream media puppets. (alleged).

They will do anything and everything to try to take out anyone who threatens the 'alleged control' by Big Pharma $$$$$$

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2016-06-28/health-australia-party-raises-ire-of-ama/7550684>

Big Pharma in control of individuals, groups, corporations, mainstream media, Medical Schools, Universities/Politics/Governments by way of partnering/donations is a grave threat to democracy - A FIRESTORM devouring your Health Rights Freedoms/Individual Rights to Informed Consent to Treatment/Individual Rights to Refuse Treatment and any other of your Rights that obstruct their objective$.

A healthy population does not need to have continual/frequent/regular/lifetime of consultations and/or prescriptions at the Doctors' Offices/Surgeries/Clinics/Hospitals/Chemists - this should be a 'good thing' right? - not as far as Big Pharma and their extensive interests are concerned! Governments say our Hospital System is unsustainable, we for some time, have had our population suffering increasing chronic diseases etc., we say, leave the people to make their own 'Health' Informed Decisions and become a healthier population allegedly not 'pandering' to Big Pharma requiring a regular, sustained or a lifetime of prescribed medications.

As Health Australia Party state:- Defending Australia's health and protecting individual rights - Build a health-creation system, not a disease-management system.

The HEALTH AUSTRALIA PARTY want a safe and healthy population also embracing Natural Medicine alongside Mainstream Medicine and remaining free to make their own health choices; most importantly retaining Medical Ethics/ INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS TO INFORMED CONSENT to treatment /Individual Rights to Refuse Treatment - protecting your Health Rights Freedoms.

A very dangerous slippery slope, the Government HAS BY THEIR NO JAB NO PAY NO PLAY POLICY, VIOLATED THE MOST SACRED OF DEMOCRATIC, HUMAN AND MEDICAL RIGHTS if you lose your Individual Rights to INFORMED CONSENT you are in peril of losing any and all rights.

We have an Autism Explosion in Australia and many more with varying degrees of severity; behavioural disorders, seizure disorders, learning disorders, allergies, sensitivities, chronic diseases, mental health problems, dental crisis, etc.. extreme behavioural disorders e.g. <https://fluorideinformationaustralia.files.wordpress.com/2013/01/violence-and-crime-neurotoxicity-water-fluoridation-chemicals-adverse-behavioural-effects-of-varying-degrees-on-ever-increasing-numbers-of-our-population-diane-drayton-buckland-21.pdf>

AMA & ADA allegedly are well known for their demands to the Chief Health Officer in Queensland, Councils and ors. "Brisbane and surrounding areas, Gold Coast, Sunshine Coast etc., 'fluoridated' commencing Dec. 2008 and 'water fluoridation schemes' continuing from then on all throughout Queensland, thanks to the then Premier Mrs. Anna Bligh (and Her Mandate and the close Association with the ADA and AMA writing to Chief Health Officer Dr. Jeannette Young, asking her to mandate water fluoridation in view of the Councils not doing so of their own volition- this was accomplished starting with the 'Private Member's Bill' by DENTIST & then Opposition Leader John Paul Langbroek) who wanted us all 'fluoridated'.

See: UNDER FOI - this is what they did to fluoridate/pollute Queensland

Extract:

The ADA asked for $200,000 and received $220,000 from Anna Bligh's Health Minister, Stephen Robertson to promote 'fluoridation' and their colleagues at the AMA sent a letter to Dr. Jeannette young, Chief Health Officer Queensland Health extract from FOI :-

"The AMA believes the 'strategic approach' referred to in your letter must be for Government to mandate water fluoridation throughout the State. The approach to encourage individual councils to adopt fluoridation of their own volition has failed."

"Many allege that this is tantamount to 'conspiring' to 'mandate' 'water fluoridation' and the Australian Government should immediately and irrevocably ban all 'water fluoridation'.

WHY DO THE ADA (and AMA) HAVE THE POLITICAL AND MEDIA POWER AND CLOUT TO CONTINUE CHRONICALLY POISON A NATION? (and also be part of the gross violation of Medical Ethics/Individual Rights to Informed Consent to Treatment/Individual Rights to Refuse Treatment (now with forced vaccinations too!)

After decades of water fluoridation first commencing in 1953 we are in dental crisis and chronically diseased; why do you think the ADA, AMA and their associates/interests continue with this Fluoridation Fraud which is not safe and not effective.

"Comment: Dentists, Doctors and others in politics with personal agendas or any associations/associates'/ political agendas and their influence on politics and media, is a cancer in politics and has to be stopped and those revolving doors from corporations/industries to Governments also stopped for all time.

Australia wide in dental crisis after widespread fluoridation in every State, first commencing Beaconsfield, Tasmania in 1953 - likewise USA in dental crisis after widespread 'fluoridation' first beginning in 1945 Grand Rapids Michigan. There are also more dentists, dental surgeries, dental corporations than ever before.

The only answer EVER was to provide access to affordable dental health care services for all the population, not the dumping/disposal of highly corrosive, toxic, neurotoxic and carcinogenic hazardous waste pollutants fluorosilicic acid/silicofluorides and co-contaminants of lead, mercury, arsenic, cadmium, thallium, beryllium, etc., (known as water fluoridation); into our drinking water supplies and hence also the contamination of our food chain and using the populations' kidneys as hazardous waste disposal/filtration units.

These highly corrosive, neurotoxic and carcinogenic hazardous waste pollutants and co-contaminants known as water fluoridation chemicals, must not be dumped in the air, rivers, oceans, creeks but dump it in the water supplies as a forced 'medical /dental treatment' (without 'informed consent' I might add !!) and it magically becomes safe and effective.

Biopersistence and brain translocation of aluminum adjuvants of vaccines

Aluminum oxyhydroxide (alum) is a crystalline compound widely used as an immunological adjuvant of vaccines. Concerns linked to the use of alum particles emerged following recognition of their causative role in the so-called macrophagic myofasciitis (MMF) lesion detected in patients with myalgic encephalomyelitis/chronic fatigue/syndrome. MMF revealed an unexpectedly long-lasting biopersistence of alum within immune cells in presumably susceptible individuals, stressing the previous fundamental misconception of its biodisposition. We previously showed that poorly biodegradable aluminum-coated particles injected into muscle are promptly phagocytosed in muscle and the draining lymph nodes, and can disseminate within phagocytic cells throughout the body and slowly accumulate in brain. This strongly suggests that long-term adjuvant biopersistence within phagocytic cells is a prerequisite for slow brain translocation and delayed neurotoxicity.

This Study Reveals Children are Being Vaccinated With Toxic Levels of Aluminium Causing Neurological Damage and Autism

Christina England
January 28 2014

A recent study conducted by Canadian scientists Professor Christopher Shaw and Dr. Lucija Tomljenovic revealed that the more vaccines that children receive containing the adjuvant aluminum, the greater their chance is of developing autism, autoimmune diseases and neurological problems in the future.

In 2013, in their paper, published by Springer Science+Business Media, titled Aluminum in the Central Nervous System: Toxicity in Humans and Animals, Vaccine Adjuvants, and Autoimmunity, they revealed that during a 17-year period, the rates of autism had increased significantly in countries that had the most vaccinations containing the adjuvant aluminum.

Review Article Aluminum-Induced Entropy in Biological Systems: Implications for Neurological Disease
Journal of Toxicology 10/2014; Shaw, C.A., Seneff, S., Kette, S.D., Tomljenovic, L., Oller, J.W. and Davidson, R.M. (2014). Aluminum-Induced Entropy in Biological Systems: Implications for Neurological Disease. Journal of Toxicology, 2014, 27.. DOI: 10.1155/2014/491316

ABSTRACT Over the last 200 years, mining, smelting, and refining of aluminum (Al) in various forms have increasingly exposed living species to this naturally abundant metal. Because of its prevalence in the earth's crust, prior to its recent uses it was regarded as inert and therefore harmless. However, Al is invariably toxic to living systems and has no known beneficial role in any biological systems. Humans are increasingly exposed to Al from food, water, medicinals, vaccines, and cosmetics, as well as from industrial occupational exposure. Al disrupts biological self-ordering, energy transduction, and signalling systems, thus increasing biosemiotic entropy. Beginning with the biophysics of water, disruption progresses through the macromolecules that are crucial to living processes (DNAs, RNAs, proteoglycans, and proteins). It injures cells, circuits, and subsystems and can cause catastrophic failures ending in death. Al forms toxic complexes with other elements, such as fluorine, and interacts negatively with mercury, lead, and glyphosate. Al negatively impacts the central nervous system in all species that have been studied, including humans. Because of the global impacts of Al on water dynamics and biosemiotic systems, CNS disorders in humans are sensitive indicators of the Al toxicants to which we are being exposed.

Leading immunologists at International Congress on Autoimmunity link aluminum in vaccines to a new post-vaccine syndrome

March 31st 2014

Written By: Celeste McGovern

While "anti-vaxxers" are being smeared in public campaigns as backward and unscientific fear-mongers, a growing body of cutting edge research is emerging from the top echelons of medical immunology to confirm what the cranks have been saying for years about the devastating effects of vaccine ingredients. The biggest names in the field of study of the human immune system are attached to current papers in the most prestigious immunology literature that link widely used vaccine ingredients such as aluminum to terrifying modern epidemics of immune-mediated diseases including autism and Alzheimer's. As well, they've identified an entirely new post-vaccine syndrome: Autoimmune Inflammatory Syndrome Induced by Adjuvants (ASIA). And while the study of ASIA is shining light on the underlying mechanisms through which vaccine ingredients trigger disease, it is also exposing cracks in the foundation of a century of vaccine orthodoxy.

Nearly 3,000 doctors and scientists from around the world gathered last week at the 9th International Congress on Autoimmunity (ICA) in the Nice Acropolis Convention Center on the French Riviera. Dozens of seminars and panel discussions of causes and treatments for scores of autoimmune diseases were scheduled. But an entire day of the four day event held every two years was devoted to the 3rd International Vaccine Symposium held under the umbrella of the ICA.

Ignasi Rodriguez-Pinto, an autoimmunologist at the Barcelona Hospital Clinic and former fellow of the pre-eminent Zabludowicz Center for Autoimmune Diseases at Tel Aviv University's Sheba Medical Center was at the symposium to announce the creation of a world registry for ASIA.

New Documentary "Bought" Exposes the Hidden Story Behind Vaccines, Pharma, and Food

November 08, 2014

"Your health is now brought to you by Wall Street. If you thought they hurt us with the banks, wait 'til you see what they are doing to our health care." – Jeff Hays, "Bought"

The new documentary Bought dives deeply into the inner workings of the industries at the core of our food and healthcare system, exploring the truth about how vaccines and drugs are developed and rushed to market and the ongoing secrecy behind the genetic engineering of our food supply.

For a limited time proceeds from renting or purchasing this film will be donated to the National Vaccine Information Center (NVIC), a non-profit organization advocating for vaccine safety and informed consent protection in the public health system.

Filmmaker Jeff Hays believes, as I do, that you have a right to the truth so that you can make educated decisions about your health, food, and medicine. Unfortunately, the truth is not easy to come by today.

Like the banks, the food and drug industries have grown more powerful and less transparent over time, and profit has become the primary motive. Hays may be best known for his 2012 documentary "Doctored," which exposes how the medical and drug industry conspire to control the health care system.

Hays' new film peels back the layers to show how the drug, vaccine, and chemical technology industries have joined forces as one supervillain, with its "undisclosed location" smack-dab in the middle of the White House.

You can't effectively address one industry without addressing them all, as they are now inextricably linked. Until enough people raise their voices, nothing is likely to change. According to Hays:1

Making Out with Merck - Age of Autism - Daily Web Newspaper of the Autism Epidemic

If we are winning the war against the autoimmune plagues, why does it feel so much like losing?

Twenty-two years into the autism epidemic the parents of vaccine-injured children are like the rebels in Syria: outgunned, isolated, and largely ignored by the rest of the world. UK to give pertussis vaccine to newborns? Autism and SIDS are on the package insert

Here is a clear measure of medical insanity and the threat it represents to the health and life of your children:

UK authorities are considering giving the pertussis vaccine to newborns, even though there are no safety studies to support vaccination of newborns.

Sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) and autism are listed on the pertussis vaccine package insert (filed with the FDA) under serious adverse events reported during post-approval use.

'Events were included in this list because of the seriousness or frequency of reporting.'

Autism Rates Explode In Asia After Introducing Western Vaccines

Posted on July 3, 2015 by Sean Adl-Tabatabai in Health

Western pharmaceutical companies have been opening up in Asia in the last few years introducing vaccination programs and unsurprisingly autism rates have soared.

Saigon Tiep Thi newspaper Wednesday quoted a study from the National Hospital of Pediatrics as saying that the number of children diagnosed with autism at the Hanoi-based hospital's Physiotherapy Department in 2007 was 50 times higher than in 2000

Korea is another country where autism rates have risen since the introduction of vaccination programs.

Autism rates are as high as 1:38.

Thanhniennews.com reports:

This study is further evidence that autism transcends cultural, geographic, and ethnic boundaries and that autism is a major global public health concern, not limited to the Western world.

The following videos are doctors who decided to do their own research on vaccinations and decided to speak out against them.

Japanese Government Continues to Ban the MMR Vaccine

Excerpts:

For many years, controversy has surrounded the three-in-one vaccine against measles, mumps, and rubella. Most notably, the MMR vaccine is infamous for its disputed connection to autism, and despite the fact that it has been blamed in vaccine courts for causing autism, vaccine supporters still deny its fault in skyrocketing rates of autism spectrum disorder, which is at least one in 68 children, with even higher rates of diagnosis among boys. [1, 2]

However, the vaccine has other serious risks in addition to the relationship it has with unmanageable numbers of autism in children, which has led to a ban of this vaccine in one industrialized nation.

The Japanese government banned the measles, mumps, and rubella vaccine from its vaccination program in 1993, after a record number of children developed adverse reactions, including meningitis, loss of limbs, and death. [3]

The MMR Vaccine's Tragic History in Japan

The MMR vaccine was introduced in Japan in April 1989, and parents who refused the compulsory vaccine were fined. After three months of analysis, officials realized that one in 900 children developed adverse reactions to the vaccine, a rate that was 2,000 times higher than the expected rate.

Officials had hoped to resolve the problem by switching to another version of the vaccine, but the excessive amount of adverse reactions persisted, with one in 1,755 children affected. Testing of 125 children's spinal fluid determined that the vaccines had entered one child's nervous system, with two additional suspected cases.

Four years later, in 1993, the government removed the MMR mandate against measles and rubella.....

What Many Parents Don't Know About the MMR Vaccine

The list of adverse reactions to the MMR vaccine, straight from Merck's vaccine package inserts, is long and alarming. A shortened version of the vaccine damage associated with the MMR vaccine includes vomiting, diarrhea, anaphylaxis, ear pain, nerve deafness, diabetes, arthritis, myalgia, encephalitis, febrile seizures, pneumonia, and death. [7, 8]

A search of the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) database shows the following statistics from the United States: over 75,000 adverse events have been reported from any combination of measles, mumps, and rubella vaccines, including, most notably:.....

INOCULATED: How Science Lost Its Soul in Autism

By Kent Heckenlively, J.D.

About ten months ago I started writing a new book, INOCULATED: How Science Lost Its Soul in Autism, which would utilize the CDC whistleblower story as a way to review the corruption in science regarding vaccines and autism. I knew Andy Wakefield was working on his documentary, and when I interviewed him for this book he mentioned it, but in my wildest dreams I never imagined VAXXED would explode onto the scene the way it has. I have been writing furiously to make sure that story is included as well.

Are Vaccines Safe for Children? Global Survey Reveals the Truth

By Ty Bollinger

The system failed to hold the vaccine industry accountable for this travesty. Increasingly more untested vaccines are being added to the childhood vaccine schedule all the time. All the while, rates of autism, obesity, and other chronic diseases continue to skyrocket. It's a public health crisis that "We the People" must confront head-on. The worldwide Vaccinated and Non-Vaccinated Children's Data (VanVCD) Survey is one way to do this.

Vaccine Court: Hepatitis B Shot Caused MS

By David Kirby

All eyes are on Vaccine Court this week, as people await rulings in the autism “test cases” on MMR and thimerosal. But another omnibus proceeding involving Hepatitis B vaccine and autoimmune disorders in adults, including MS, has already been quietly ruling in favor of several petitioners. (HERE)

The most recent case was announced about a week ago. In it, the Court ruled that the victim, an adult female, had contracted a form of demyelinating disease and MS, and eventually died, after receiving the Hepatitis B vaccine series. It was just the most recent case in a rash of rulings in the omnibus proceeding dealing with hepatitis B vaccine and “demyelinating diseases such as transverse myelitis (TM), Guillain-Barré syndrome (GBS), chronic inflammatory demyelinating disease (CIDP), and multiple sclerosis (MS),” according to court papers.

“Petitioner has prevailed on the issue of entitlement. The medical records during decedent’s final hospitalization reflect that she died from demyelinating disease. Not only did decedent have a vaccine injury, but also her death was vaccine-related,” wrote the Special Master in the case.

Interestingly, the US government chose not to present any expert witnesses, nor to contest the case any further.

Richard Moskowitz, M.D. - The Case Against Immunizations

29 April, 2015

By Richard Moskowitz, M. D.

DoctorRMosk.com

For the past ten years or so, I have felt a deep and growing compunction against giving routine vaccinations to children. It began with the fundamental belief that people have the right to make that choice for themselves.

About the Author

Richard Moskowitz, M.D. has been a licensed physician since 1967. He received his B.A. from Harvard in 1959, Phi Beta Kappa, Cum Laude in General Studies (Biochemical Sciences). He received his M.D. from New York University in 1963. Prominent Pediatrician Dr. Robert S. Mendelsohn, M.D. 'Speaks Out Against Measles Vaccine:- THE MEDICAL TIME BOMB OF IMMUNIZATION AGAINST DISEASE The greatest threat of childhood diseases lies in the dangerous and ineffectual efforts made to prevent them by ROBERT S. MENDELSON, M.D.

MEASLES

Measles, also called rubeola or 'English measles," is a contagious viral disease that can 'be contracted by touching an object used by an infected person. At the onset the victim feels tired, has a slight fever and pain in the head and back. His eyes redden and he may be sensitive to light. The fever rises until about the third or fourth day, when it reaches 103- 104 degrees. Sometimes small white spots can be seen inside the mouth, and a rash of small pink spots appears below the hair line and behind the ears. This rash spreads downward to cover the body in about 36 hours. The pink spots may run together but fade away in about three or four days. Measles is contagious for seven or eight days, beginning three or four days before the rash appears. Consequently, if one of your children contracts the disease, the others probably will have been exposed to it before you know the first child is sick.

No treatment is required for measles other than bed rest, fluids to combat possible dehydration from fever, and calamine lotion or cornstarch baths to relieve the itching. If the child suffers from photophobia, the blinds in his bedroom should be lowered to darken the room. However, contrary to the popular myth, there is no danger of permanent blindness from this disease.

A vaccine to prevent measles is another element of the MMR inoculation given in early childhood. Doctors maintain that the inoculation is necessary to prevent measles encephalitis, which they say occurs about once in 1,000 cases. After decades of experience with measles, I question this statistic, and so do many other pediatricians. The incidence of 1/1,000 may be accurate for children who live in conditions of poverty and malnutrition, but in the middle-and upper-income brackets, if one excludes simple sleepiness from the measles itself, the incidence of true encephalitis is probably more like 1/10,000 or 1/100,000.

After frightening you with the unlikely possibility of measles encephalitis, your doctor can rarely be counted on to tell you of the dangers associated with the vaccine he uses to prevent it. The measles vaccine is associated with encephalopathy and with a series of other complications such as SSPE (subacute sclerosing panencephalitis), which causes hardening of the brain and is invariably fatal.

Other neurologic and sometimes fatal conditions associated with the measles vaccine include ataxia (inability to coordinate muscle movements), mental retardation, aseptic meningitis, seizure disorders, and hemiparesis (paralysis affecting one side of the body). Secondary complications associated with the vaccine may be even more frightening. They include encephalitis, juvenile-onset diabetes, Reye's syndrome, and multiple sclerosis.

I would consider the risks associated with measles vaccination unacceptable even if there were convincing evidence that the vaccine works. There isn't. While there has been a decline in the incidence of the disease, it began long before the vaccine was introduced. In 1958 there were about 800,000 cases of measles in the United States, but by 1962-the year before a vaccine appeared-the number of cases had dropped by 300,000. During the next four years, while children were being vaccinated with an ineffective and now abandoned "killed virus" vaccine, the number of cases dropped another 300,000. In 1900 there were 13.3 measles deaths per 100,000 population. By 1955, before the first measles shot, the death rate had declined 97.7 percent to only 0.03 deaths per 100,000.

Those numbers alone are dramatic evidence that measles was disappearing before the vaccine was introduced. If you fail to find them sufficiently convincing, consider this: in a 1978 survey of thirty states, more than half of the children who contracted measles had been adequately vaccinated. Moreover, according to the World Health Organization, the chances are about fifteen times greater that measles will be contracted by those vaccinated for them than by those who are not.

"Why," you may ask, "in the face of these facts, do doctors continue to give the shots?" The answer may lie in an episode that occurred in California fourteen years after the measles vaccine was introduced. Los Angeles suffered a severe measles epidemic during that year, and parents were urged to vaccinate all children six months of age and older-despite a Public Health Service warning that vaccinating children below the age of one year was useless and potentially harmful.

Although Los Angeles doctors responded by routinely shooting measles vaccine into very kid they could get their hands on, several local physicians familiar with the suspected problems of immunologic failure and "slow virus" dangers chose not to vaccinate their own infant children. Unlike their patients, who weren't told, they realized that "slow viruses" found in all live vaccines, and particularly in the measles vaccine, can hide in human tissue for years. They may emerge later in the form of encephalitis, multiple sclerosis, and as potential seeds for the development and growth of cancer.

One Los Angeles physician who refused to vaccinate his own seven-month-old baby said: "I'm worried about what happens when the vaccine virus may not only offer little protection against measles but may also stay around in the body, working in a way we don't know much about." His concern about the possibility of these consequences for his own child, however, did not cause him to stop vaccinating his infant patients. He rationalized this contradictory behavior with the comment that "As a parent, I have the luxury of making a choice for my child. As a physician... legally and professionally I have to accept the recommendations of the profession, which is what we also had to do with the whole Swine Flu business."

Perhaps it is time that lay parents and their children are granted the same luxury that doctors and their children enjoy.

Dr. Rachael Ross Vaccines, Vaccine Injury & My Perspective as a Doctor & Mom

1 July, 2016

An Apology Letter:

I've ordered thousands of vaccines in my career as a physician. Until recently I had never considered vaccine injury as more than folklore. Weeks ago I never would've believed a story about vaccine injured triplets...so the past few weeks have been difficult. I have struggled to make sense of all that I have seen and learned. I met a mother of triplets the other weekend, a very attractive white woman with years added onto her face and her smile. She recalled to me the day her triplets were born. She and her then husband were ecstatic that she was able to carry them for 36 weeks.

At the time, mom was so happy that they were inside of her long enough to mature, they were born perfectly healthy. I can totally relate since I am now twelve weeks post-partum. I had very similar worries carrying my little princess. Mom's eyes dropped though as I gave her a hearty smile of excitement. The same day that her triplets were given their six-month check-up and vaccines, was the same day that all three of her kids checked out. She said it was as if someone replaced her children with new ones. They unlearned all they knew...regressed and screamed for days. I stood there motionless and speechless. She didn't want my pity, nor my tears, she just wanted me to know.

Gardasil Vaccine Will Become the Greatest Medical Scandal of All Time — Former Merck Physician

March 3, 2015

Here is what former Merck physician Dr. Bernard Dalbergue actually said about Gardasil, Merck's HPV vaccine:

I predict that Gardasil will become the greatest medical scandal of all time because at some point in time, the evidence will add up to prove that this vaccine, technical and scientific feat that it may be, has absolutely no effect on cervical cancer and that all the very many adverse effects which destroy lives and even kill, serve no other purpose than to generate profit for the manufacturers. Gardasil is useless and costs a fortune! In addition, decision-makers at all levels are aware of it! Cases of Guillain-Barré syndrome, paralysis of the lower limbs, vaccine-induced MS, and vaccine-induced encephalitis can be found, whatever the vaccine.

Meanwhile, the federal government's National Vaccine Program Office (NVPO) is more concerned that "adult vaccination rates remain low in the United States," and is planning to ramp up efforts to hit goals set in Healthy People 2020, a US Health and Human Services (HHS) initiative. The NVPO has just released a draft of its National Adult Immunization Plan.

Most of the plan has to do with increasing awareness of and access to adult vaccinations. However, given the dangers that have been associated with vaccination, ANH-USA is concerned about the project. Here are a couple of things we would like to see added to NVPO's plan:

<http://www.sovereignparty.org.au/profiles/blogs/are-malcolm-and-lucy-turnbull-pharma-investments-a-conflict-of#.V2SKEzeRKX0>

Chairman - Lucy Turnbull

Corporate Background

Prima BioMed (ASX:PRR, NASDAQ: PBMD) is a globally active biotechnology company that is striving to become a leader in the development of immunotherapeutic products.

With operations based in Australia, Germany and France, Prima BioMed is dedicated to bringing innovative treatment options to market for patients and to maximizing value for shareholders.

Turnbull defends tax haven investments

'All income from managed funds is taxed in Australia' says Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull.

Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull, who has been controversially targeted by Labor over his extensive offshore investments, has updated his pecuniary interests to include a European investment fund that holds shares in pharmaceutical companies and cigarette maker British American Tobacco.

In an update to the register of member's interests, Mr Turnbull has restored an investment in the "Vanguard" fund which focuses on stocks across Western Europe.

Vanguard had been incorrectly removed from his declaration in July due to an "administrative error" and this week's update was to clarify that he still has a financial interest in the exchange-traded fund.

Among its top 10 holdings are multinational food giant Nestle, Swiss pharmaceutical company Novartis, GlaxoSmithKline and British American Tobacco, the world's biggest cigarette maker.

Brands of the London-based British American Tobacco include Dunhill, Kent, Lucky Strike and Pall Mall. The company recently announced a half-yearly profit of £2.65 billion ($5.66 billion).

<http://www.smh.com.au/federal-politics/political-news/malcolm-turnbull-urged-to-dump-investments-in-tobacco-companies-20151022-gkfinl.html>

What's on Malcolm Turnbull's Register of Interests?

First, there are the listed companies and funds*. Among them is the SPDR S&P 500 ETF Trust [NYSEARCA:SPY]. Over the last two years, SPY is up by nearly 40%. This ETF is relatively popular because it offers exposure to big-name stocks, whilst being balanced and accessible. The Trust's top ten holdings are Apple Inc., Microsoft Corporation, Exxon Mobil, Johnson & Johnson, GE, Wells Fargo, Berkshire Hathaway (Class B), JPMorgan, Amazon.com, and Pfizer Inc. Apple is the most substantial holding, at 3.8%. To put that in context, Microsoft comes next at 2.03%. So it's very tech heavy. But perhaps not as tech heavy as Vanguard Information Technology ETF [NYSEARCA:VGT], which Turnbull bought in July last year. VGT's top five holdings are Apple, Google, Microsoft, Facebook, and IBM.

Then there's the iShares iBoxx $ High Yield Corporate Bond ETF [NYSEARCA:HYG]. This Fund pays dividends of around US$0.40 every month or so. It has bonds from a variety of big corporations. Interestingly, most are from the US communications services market.

There's also the Deutsche X-trackers MSCI Japan Hedged Eq [NYSEARCA:DBJP]. This fund tracks the MSCI Japan US Dollar Hedged Index. It provides exposure to Japanese equities, plus a hedge for the yen/US dollar exchange rate. Its top holdings include Toyota, Mitsubishi and Honda.

The takeaway from this? Malcolm Turnbull likes ETFs. Which, like he said, can be kind of boring. But Turnbull has also bought in to a number of actively managed funds. For example, there's the 3G Natural Resources Offshore Fund. This Fund is run by multi-billion dollar global firm 3G Capital. 3G is based in Brazil. The Fund's nominated jurisdiction is the Cayman Islands, because...reasons. There's no public information on what it holds.

Australian Government - Pharmaceuticals Industry Profile

Despite Australia's relatively small population, Australians consume large amounts of medicines.

In 2012, pharmaceutical sales in Australia made up a significant share of the global market, and ranked Australia as the twelfth largest consumer market, according to the IMS Institute for Healthcare Informatics Report 2012.

Comment:

Chronically poisoning the population via water fluoridation chemicals which is fluorosilicic acid/silicofluorides and co-contaminants of lead, mercury, arsenic, cadmium, thallium, beryllium etc. and also aluminium sulphate has and is continuing cumulatively, to damage the health of Australian people, pets, all life and our environment.

Also vaccinations which are being forced also have damaging/dangerous 'substances/ingredients' shown later in this document.

Australia: refuse vaccination, lose $15,000 - Prime Minister Tony Abbott is a moron

by Jon Rappoport

April 14, 2015

NoMoreFakeNews.com

If the parents (devotees) have a few doubts or questions, the doctor (high priest) looks down his arrogant nose at them and mumbles a few words of gibberish to justify his position on vaccination.

It's all good in the Holy Church of Biological Mysticism.

It occurs to me that, if there were, say, a million parents in Australia who had a grip on basic logic and could think this thing through, they would all stand up on their hind legs and say NO to vaccination.

That would put you in a pickle, wouldn't it, Tony?

But not to worry. The rough-and-ready spirit of Australia is dead, isn't it?

Individualism, independent decision-making... a thing of the past, right?

Now Australians keep their heads down and go about their business and obey the government, yes?

No need for honesty or rebellion.

The government is good, the government is kind, the government is Daddy and Mommy, the government has the population cowed and hypnotized.

Shocking, pay the doctors a bonus, reward the vaccine manufactures, while the Treasurer screams out that we are in a financial mess. This is beyond belief. !!

The Federal Government has unveiled a $26 million package aimed at boosting vaccination rates among children as part of next month's budget.

19th April, 2015

The money will be spent on incentive payments for doctors who vaccinate overdue children, a national vaccination register and a communication campaign.

Autism Rates Explode In Asia After Introducing Western Vaccines

Posted on July 3, 2015 by Sean Adl-Tabatabai in Health

Western pharmaceutical companies have been opening up in Asia in the last few years introducing vaccination programs and unsurprisingly autism rates have soared.

Saigon Tiep Thi newspaper Wednesday quoted a study from the National Hospital of Pediatrics as saying that the number of children diagnosed with autism at the Hanoi-based hospital's Physiotherapy Department in 2007 was 50 times higher than in 2000

Korea is another country where autism rates have risen since the introduction of vaccination programs. Autism rates are as high as 1:38.

Thanhniennews.com reports:

Murdoch Daily Telegraph initiating (and sustaining) pro-vaccination lobby campaigns

Murdoch Media No Jab No Play and No Jab No Pay Campaigns

This brings me to 'No Jab No Play' and 'No Jab No Pay'.

The No Jab No Play campaign was initiated by the Murdoch Daily Telegraph. Yes, a newspaper whose function I understand to be reporting news, not initiating campaigns.

5 May, 2013

<http://www.news.com.au/national/no-jab-no-play-campaign-launched-to-ban-unvaccinated-kids-from-childcare-centres-and-preschools/story-fncynjr2-1226635256015>

James Murdoch was a Director of Glaxo Smith Kline one of the largest vaccine manufacturers in the world.

He decided not to stand for re-election as a Director in 2012, that's the public story.

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2012/01/27/james-murdoch-glaxosmithkline-board_n_1236256.html

One could wonder why a drug and vaccine company needed the skills of a media expert on its board.

Clearly they have felt threatened by the trend of more people questioning vaccines.

By 2012 my assessment is that GSK and the industry's media strategy had been born, now it would serve GSK better if Murdoch was not tied to them, 'Plausible Deniability' they call it in the game.

The mood has definitely altered on the issue in Australia and there is now a vehement element of the public who have taken as granted the Murdoch Campaign's one sided painting of vaccines as free from risk and the only responsible decision for every disease for every person.

The Murdochs were successful in having NSW State Law passed on the strength of supposed public support that had to a large degree been manufactured by the Murdoch Press for 'No Jab No Play'. Under this law children could not be enrolled in Preschools if they had not been vaccinated.

Now our Prime Minister Tony Abbott has announced a policy that parents receiving social security benefits for their children will only receive it if their children have been vaccinated in accordance with the recommended public health recommendations ('No Jab No Pay').

Movement into mandating vaccination and taking away parental rights to make a decision considering the welfare of their child is a worrying step.

Vaccination is not black and white and parents do have the right to weigh up evidence.

Its not only a right it's a responsibility, because not all vaccines are good products and vaccine approvals focus mainly on safety profiles, and set relatively low bars for issues like product efficacy. HPV is the perfect case in point, as I outlined above.

Our Prime Minister has delivered to the Murdoch campaign and to the Vaccine companies a windfall revenue outcome by creating a massive financial incentive for a significant part of the population to comply with policy.

Those in the GSK and other Vaccine company boardrooms will be congratulating themselves and without question increasing forecasted revenues.

Public Policy

From the reactions to my Facebook post today, there are a lot of people who value a voice that recognises vaccinations is not a black and white issue.

It should be driven by careful consideration of good untainted science, and we need more of that rare commodity.

Public Policy is not something that should be driven by Drug Company and Newspaper PR campaigns. Very few people have joined the dots between the Daily Telegraph campaign, the Murdochs, and GSK and the Industry.

This whole situation has been an over-reaction to an over-reaction and its time we as people all came to the middle ground and demanded good policy of our leaders and public health officials, in place of propaganda.

The emerging culture with the government and drug companies over-reacting has been to come (at least publicly) from a place of denial sweeping the genuine issues under the carpet.

Murdoch's Vaccine World - James Murdoch sits on board of Glaxo Smith Kline

.....It sounds like Rupert Murdoch is akin to an octopus with tentacles far reaching and some very deeply, especially in pharmaceuticals and the global media, i.e., radio, television, newspapers, and other print media. Let's see how far the inquiry goes into the British cell hacking fiasco and if it will cross the pond into the United States. If what we are hearing about what went on at his newspapers multiplies, we can only imagine what has been going on behind closed doors in the world of pharmaceuticals.

One indication of how nasty the vaccine agenda is becoming is the sad article about

131 Children vaccinated at gunpoint in Nsanje [Africa]

<http://www.malawivoice.com/latest-news/131-children-vaccinated-at-gunpoint-in-nsanje/>

More regarding Mainstream Media's and Government's chronic failures, denials and chronic cover-ups >

After decades of denials and attacks by the media which called people concerned about cell phone radiation "tin foil hat-wearing conspiracy theorists," a massive, multi-year study funded by the federal government now concludes that yes, cell phone radiation causes brain cancer.

The study is published here and it's entitled, "Report of Partial Findings from the National Toxicology Program Carcinogenesis Studies of Cell Phone Radiofrequency Radiation in Hsd: Sprague Dawley SD rats (Whole Body Exposures)."

"The findings, which chronicle an unprecedented number of rodents subjected to a lifetime of electromagnetic radiation, present some of the strongest evidence to date that such exposure is associated with the formation of rare cancers in at least two cell types in the brains and hearts of rats," reports Scientific American:

The researchers found that as the thousands of rats in the new study were exposed to greater intensities of RF radiation, more of them developed rare forms of brain and heart cancer that could not be easily explained away, exhibiting a direct dose-response relationship. Some of the rats had glioma -- a tumor of the glial cells in the brain -- or schwannoma of the heart. Furthering concern about the findings: In prior epidemiological studies of humans and cell phone exposure, both types of tumors have also cropped up as associations. In contrast, none of the control rats -- those not exposed to the radiation -- developed such tumors.

What's Behind BigPharma's Freak-out Media Blitz Over Measles?

By Gary G. Kohls, MD - Global Research 11 February, 2015

Getting patients and legislators to believe Big Pharma's aggressive propaganda is essential for it and also important for the stock portfolios of many physicians and for-profit medical corporations. Share price is central to the industry and no bad news can be tolerated, especially in this volatile stock market.

When big money is involved, corporations are known to lie, cheat, steal, name call, threaten, smear and destroy other people's reputations in order to get their way or beat the competition (see information about the Dr Andrew Wakefield case by reading his two books "Callous Disregard: The Truth Behind a Tragedy" and "Waging War on the Autistic Child" or actually listening to his testimony about how the British Medical Journal, the RUPERT MURDOCH pseudo-journalist Brian Deer, GlaxoSmithKline (Murdoch's son was on Glaxo's board of directors) conspired together to smear and destroy Wakefield's profession for his "Crime" of doing honest research and publishing -- along with a number of co-authors -- a peer-reviewed Lancet journal article that proved a direct connection between Glaxo's MMR vaccine and a dozen disabled (with autism, chronic diarrhea and abdominal pain) autistic children whose bowels and lymph nodes were found to be infected with the vaccine's proliferating measles viruses. A lawsuit in Britain totally exonerated one of Wakefield's co-authors, but Wakefield, now an ex-patriot in America, was unable to afford legal counsel and therefore remains "guilty" of the trumped up charges.

GlaxoSmithKline (GSK) is an international pharmaceutical giant headquartered in Britain. GSK traces its heritage back to a London pharmacy established in 1715. Various entities, including Burroughs Wellcome & Company, Smith-Kline & French Laboratories and Glaxo Laboratories merged to form GSK.[1] GSK is one of the top five drug firms in the world.

In the fiscal year ending in December of 2010, the company had total revenues of approximately $45.6 billion.[2] Its CEO, Andrew Witty, received an annual compensation of $3.69 million in 2010.[3]

Ties to ALEC

GSK is on the corporate ("Private Enterprise") board of the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC) as of 2011. John Del Giorno, Vice President of State Government Affairs, represents GSK on the board as of 2011.[4]

A list of ALEC Corporations can be found here.

About ALEC

ALEC is a corporate bill mill. It is not just a lobby or a front group; it is much more powerful than that. Through ALEC, corporations hand state legislators their wishlists to benefit their bottom line. Corporations fund almost all of ALEC's operations. They pay for a seat on ALEC task forces where corporate lobbyists and special interest reps vote with elected officials to approve "model" bills. Greens love affair with pro vax hate group Stop The AVN (SAVN)

Published on Jun 28, 2016

Greens Leader Richard Di Natale personally thanked members of hate group Stop the Australian Vaccination Network (SAVN) in parliament. This video exposes evidence of their cyberbullying abuse to parents and citizens who advocate for choice in Vaccination. Senator Di Natale personally thanked in parliament SAVN facebook page founder Daniel Raffaele who made violent threats and phone calls against AVN founder Meryl Dorey. His threats were so serious that she had to obtain an AVO (Apprehended Violence Order) against him.

Richard Di Natale also thanked Skeptic Peter Bowditch who has harassed mothers of vaccine injured kids and talks about orgasms and dead children and Ken McLeod who has posted the home address of Meryl Dorey and urged his hate filled followers to dump toxic waste at her home.

Do not vote for the Greens if you care about freedom! Will you vote for a party that doesn't support human rights and praises hate groups to carry out abuse and even death threats?

<https://youtu.be/IXIOUcdpmYM>

Di Natale & The Greens love affair with pre-tax hate group Stop the AVN (SAVN)

Breaking up is hard to do, but after repeat offences from the Australian Greens party, it was much easier to admit that they are just some party that I used to know. The Greens appeared to have stood for social justice, respect for our fellow human beings and our planet but now they support hate groups against vaccination choice, want to soften policies against GMOS and push communist agendas. I thought the Greens were supposed to support healthy minds & bodies along with the absolute individual right to freedom of choice, but New Greens Leader Has No Time For Anti-Vaxxers Or Raw Milk Drinkers

The Greens have always attracted the voter that prefers to eat pesticide free, organic food and have a history of being against GMOs (genetically modified foods). The Greens have supported the March against Monsanto for many years and their website clearly states their policy on GMOS. However Greens leader Richard Di Natale stated this year that he wants to soften the policy on genetically modified crops, and claims the argument lacks evidence. "Soften the policy" in political speak means that Richard Di Natale wants to start supporting the production of more GMO crops, this is ironic as I received most of my education on the dangers of GMOs from the Greens Party.

Another contradiction from the Greens is their support of the controversial Safe School program which on their website they claim is an essential program that supports young people and aims to end homophobic and transphobic discrimination and bullying at school. However, many people see Safe Schools as not just an anti bullying program but state sanctioned abuse, sexualisation and social engineering of children.

The Australian Green Party have morphed from the tree loving party who want a nice environment into a hybrid of socialism and fascism who advocate radical politics and social engineering policies. If you doubt their extreme leftist nature, you just need to read their policy pages on their website. The Greens believe in radical globalism, with a heavy emphasis on unelected and unaccountable bodies like the UN. In their section on Global Governance in principles they say "The leading role of the United Nations in the maintenance of international peace and security must be recognised and respected by all countries." This smacks of Agenda 21.

PRO-VACCINATION EXTREMISTS IN AUSTRALIA

Why is Australia's vaccine mafia desperately trying to silence this brilliant scientific researcher?

13 January, 2015

Australia's vaccine zealots are the most rabid extremist wing of the vaccine medical mafia, and they've engaged in tactics like issuing death threats to vaccine educators to try to silence them. Details of the threats here > WARNING THE PHOTOS ARE HORRIFIC

Have a look at the threats to Meryl Dorey - the world should hear about this - they will do anything to anyone who speaks out against the money machine big pharma/vaccines/vaccinations.

Apparently, allegedly Australian Skeptics have ties with the Medical Fraternity on The Conversation website one link of which is <http://theconversation.com/fluoride-conspiracies-activism-harm-to-children-17723>

After what some members of the Extreme Pro-Vax Lobby Group have done particularly, as above for which any law abiding person would be asking 'why weren't they jailed for the abuse, bullying, terrifying threats, cyber-stalking they did to Meryl Dorey AVN?'- the person running this site 'All About Anti-Vaxxers - The truth about anti-vaccine nut cases - all their abuse, rage and so forth promoting their delusional beliefs' says he/she is preparing list in preparation for a direct police report should they cross the line from expressing an opinion to bullying.

Rachael works as a post-doctoral fellow in the Department of Medical and Molecular Sciences at the University of Technology, Sydney. Her PhD examined the mechanisms of impaired degradation of oxidised proteins with a focus on the consequences for heart disease. Her current project is unravelling a role for the incorporation of non-native amino acids into neuronal proteins and how this might contribute to cell death, specifically with respect to sporadic MND or ALS. In particular, she is looking at the role of the cyanobacterial toxin BMAA and how it might contribute to ALS.

Murdoch's War on Natural Medicine

30 June, 2016

Ahhh me old mate Jane Hansen and her evil old boss are at it again. What this time you may ask? Selling more illegal wars? Selling HepB shots to one day olds? Flu shots for 90 year old nursing home residents? Tony Abbott? Nup. Just one of their pet projects, an old favourite of theirs....attacking natural medicines. For one of their biggest clients, Big, Bad Pharma.

I've been a naturopath for 15 years now so this attack is nothing new, it's the scale and intensity that have lifted a couple of notches of late, almost in direct line with the explosions of heart disease, cancer, diabetes, autism, auto-immune diseases etc. I love watching the media's schizophrenic relationship to this topic. You see their readers, or most of them, all use natural therapies, or buy organic but their pay masters hate people using these products. Makes it hard to fill a newspaper or a magazine with anything of any interest to the reader. I mean how many stories can you run on statins or Prozac? Boring.

Bad Pharma is a toxic money spinner, a massive money spinner. Problem is their business model relies upon a patentable drug. Where do they find these drugs? Brilliant science? No, most of their products are stolen from Mother Nature. Plants mostly. They steal a plant from us Quacks & Witch Doctors, isolate a few constituents, chemically alter them slightly so they can patent it, and hey Presto it's the $100 Billion Dollar Drug! Tragically not only is it almost entirely useless it is now also quite toxic. Very inconvenient. So once they lose a customer to natural medicine that customer never comes back. Ever. When you take into account the customers they kill you can see this is a real issue for their business model and long term growth. Dead or departed, disillusioned patients really affect your bottom line.

With the hundreds of billions of dollars spent on health we should be some of the healthiest societies in human history? While our control of infectious disease has been more than commendable our 'treatment' plans for chronic 'western' diseases is a scandal. In fact it is worse, it is criminal. The mismanagement of chronic disease is not an accident, it is by design to turn you into a patient for life. There is no prevention, there is no cure, just a pill popper for life to mask/manage your symptoms. You then end up on other drugs to deal with the side effects of your original drug and your deteriorating condition.

Does whooping cough vaccine for parents protect newborns (and who should pay for it)?

Author Peter Bruce McIntyre

Professor and Director for the National Centre for Immunisation Research and Surveillance of Vaccine at University of Sydney

Disclosure Statement

Peter Bruce McIntyre has a current NHMRC grant for the study of pertussis vaccine in newborns with 450 babies enrolled in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth. This study uses vaccine manufactured by GSK and GSK are performing blood tests as an in-kind contribution. GSK have also supplied pertussis toxin for a lab that works with us to set up relevant assay. Neither Professor McIntyre nor NCIRS receive any direct funding from GSK and he does not participate in any advisory boards for them or any other vaccine manufacturer. Other manufacturers have also supplied vaccine and/or performed specialist laboratory assays not otherwise available for studies initiated by NCIRS. All interactions between NCIRS and vaccine manufacturers are governed by a policy document approved by our Advisory Board. Monday's medical myth: childhood vaccinations are dangerous

Author Fiona Stanley

Perinatal and pediatric epidemiologist; founding director and patron of the Telethon Institute for Child Health Research; distinguished professorial fellow at University of Western Australia

Fiona Stanley is a researcher including causes and prevention of birth defects and major neurological disorders - COMMENT: yet she (allegedly) blindly is pro-vaccination - extract from her paper states:-

The whooping cough myth started in the 1974 in the United Kingdom when some parents claimed that after being vaccinated their children were diagnosed with neurological disorders, what they called "brain damage".

Prof Fiona Stanley, former Australian of the Year and Director of the Telethon Institute, has helped to develop this charity into a very successful commercial enterprise.

Not content to just trial drugs and vaccines for other companies, she has helped the Institute form its own drug company, Phylogica, which is now in the process of developing its own treatments.

In a 2005 interview published on the National Health and Medical Research Council's website, PROF STANLEY WAS TOTALLY UNAPOLOGETIC ABOUT THE CLOSE RELATIONSHIP SHE HAS WITH BIG PHARMA. "...we've had a very good relationship with big pharma, some of which has just been, 'Here's the money. We're interested in anything you produce.' That's a very good relation that Pat Holt (the head of Telethon's Division of Cell Biology) has had with GlaxoSmithKline."

<http://nocompulsoryvaccination.com/2010/09/29/trust-me-im-a-scientist/>

Comment: I find this yet another highly offensive example of the Arrogance, 'brainwashing' and pedantic thinking of Pro-Vaccination Lobbyists and their relationship with Big Pharma/Vaccine Industries and the increasing gross violations of medical ethic/individual rights to INFORMED CONSENT to treatment/individual rights to refuse treatment.

The adverse effects of vaccinations are becoming more and more apparent worldwide and big pharma and their interests/partners/investors don't like it.

Hal Willaby

Research Fellow, School of Public Health at University of Sydney

Dr. Hal Willaby is a Research Fellow in the School of Public Health at the University of Sydney and at the National Centre for Immunisation Research and Surveillance (NCIRS). His PhD investigated the cognitive psychology of decision-making involving risk. He examined the relationship between non-rational beliefs and decisions involving risky choices, and used a PLS structural modeling approach to empirically validate a measure and test a novel theory. Throughout his PhD, Hal combined his understanding of cognitive psychology and the lab-based findings from his PhD to educate healthcare providers on risk perception and its relationship with compliance and concordance in patients with chronic disease. This work is continued at NCIRS, where he investigates psychosocial factors related to vaccine uptake. In particular, Hal is interested in determining the belief and attitude structures associated with risk perceptions of vaccine-hesitant parents, and validating a measure of those structures that can be used to inform targeted interventions.

Hal is also contributing to the development and trial of the Vaccine Communication Framework – a motivational-interviewing resource for primary healthcare providers to address the concerns of vaccine-hesitant and vaccine-refusing parents.

How Big Pharma Controls Medical Schools (video)

By G. Edward Griffin

Video Transcript: How Big Pharma Controls Medical Schools

Ty Bollinger: First of all you mentioned the fact that we've got the pharmaceutical industry. We've got kind of an industry driven by money, and we've got doctors that are really smart people today, brilliant medical doctors. They're using treatments that really don't seem to work as well as some of these natural things. Why is it?

Can you go back into the history of the medical association, The American Medical Association (AMA), and maybe take us back 100 years and stair-step people to current day and explain why that is. Because I've heard you talk about this in the past and your explanation is fascinating, and I want the listeners to be able to hear this.

G. Edward Griffin: Well thank you for that. It is a fascinating story. It's an important story, and I suppose we don't have time to go into all of it, but maybe the best way here is to kind of back into it to start with where we are and then go back and see how we got there. Where we are today is that, just as you described, these very smart doctors.

Let's face it, there's a very selective process there. You just don't get into med school unless you've got a pretty good brain on top of your shoulders, so yeah, it's the cream of the crop. The best students go into these schools, these medical schools, but they're not taught anything about natural cures. They're taught only about drugs, primarily, and drug reactions and the chemistry of this and the chemistry of that. And they have to become really pharmacists in a way; they have to become chemists before they can even make it through pre-med.

So that's not necessarily bad, but it is a bias. I have come to know a lot of doctors in the last couple of decades since we've been working in this field. Many doctors who came from that lair of education and who gradually and sometimes very painfully had to break away from that and go back and re-examine some of these fundamental issues.

Many of them have made the transition and they speak quite openly about it now. For instance, they'll say, "when I went to medical school we never learned anything about vitamins except we had maybe two hours of instruction on the structures of vitamins and minerals and so forth." Two hours compared to hundreds and hundreds of hours about pharmacies and chemical reactions and so forth.

I remember there was one doctor, he said, "you know my wife knows more about nutrition than I do when I came out of school." And that is not surprising when you realize—now we start to go backward in time. How did that happen? The fact that these great medical teaching universities and teaching centers are so great is because they've had a lot of money given to them.

Where did the money come from? Now we're on the trail. You know the old saying "follow the money." And usually that'll take you right to it. Well, if you follow the money you'll find out that most of it came from the pharmaceutical industry.

The pharmaceutical industry knows that if they give large grants to these universities they have a double benefit. First of all they have the appearance of being philanthropists. You know they're doing good things and that's always—that's good for public relations. I'm not saying that they're not doing good things. They probably think they are. But anyway that's one advantage to giving tax exempt or tax free deductible donations to universities.

The other advantage is far more important, because once you have financed a research project you now have sort of a "first right" to whatever comes out of that research and consequently you can determine in what areas the research will go. I can assure that if I'm a big pharmaceutical company and I give a twenty million dollar grant to a research group I'm not going to be very happy if they start to research whether or not dandelions can be used in the control of cancer.

I want to make sure they're going to research a drug that I am working on in the laboratories right now. That's where I want the research to go. So they realize that they can take their own research budget and transfer it to a university or some research laboratory and get a tax deduction for it, knowing full well that if that's what they're researching, that's what the data is going to be.

So I don't need to go any further. You can understand when the money is coming from a source which has a vested interest in the outcome, what's going to happen is the outcome is going to be what the donor wants it to be generally.

OVER-VACCINATION - Elizabeth Hart

Challenging Big Pharma's lucrative over-vaccination of people and animals

I am forwarding letters to the National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) questioning the ethics of vaccination policy and practice in Australia.

The NHMRC is Australia's peak body for supporting health and medical research; for developing health advice for the Australian community, health professionals and governments; and for providing advice on ethical behaviour in health care and in the conduct of health and medical research.[1]

On 15 April 2014, I forwarded a letter to Professor Warwick Anderson, CEO of the NHMRC, suggesting the ethical spotlight needs to be shone on the way vaccination policy and practice is being implemented in Australia. I provide examples of the lack of transparency and accountability in the vaccination bureaucracy, including the problem of potential conflicts of interest and lack of disclosure by people involved in vaccination policy.

Previously, I have forwarded two letters re the second dose of live Measles/Mumps/Rubella (MMR) vaccine to Professor Ian Olver, Chair of the NHMRC Australian Health Ethics Committee[2], (see hyperlinks below).

I received an interim response from the NHMRC (20 May 2014) stating:

AHEC discussed your correspondence at its recent meeting on 7 May 2014. The issues you have raised in relation to the dose requirements for the MMR vaccination raise matters of both a scientific/technical nature as well as procedural matters relating to the current process. Before providing you with a considered response, AHEC wishes to seek further information from the relevant government agencies responsible for Australia's immunisation policy and its implementation.

Letters to the NHMRC Australian Health Ethics Committee re live Measles/Mumps/Rubella vaccination:

- Letter questioning the Australian Government's requirement for revaccination of children with a second dose of live Measles/Mumps/Rubella \(MMR\) vaccine / lack of 'informed consent' / adverse events (19 March 2014).
- Second letter re Measles/Mumps/Rubella \(MMR\) vaccination (12 April 2014), including reference to parents being misinformed about measles vaccination, and arguing that parents be informed about the option of titre testing after the first dose of MMR vaccine.

NHMRC Australian Health Ethics Committee – members as at April 2014: Currently there are no details of affiliations or disclosure statements provided for these members. I have raised this matter with the NHMRC and they have advised me: "The Office is in the process of rectifying this omission." (Letter from NHMRC, 20 May 2014).

Vaccination Policy and Practice in Australia - To National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC)

by Elizabeth Hart

Conflicts of Interests Lack of Transparency

I suggest the ethical spotlight needs to be shone on the way vaccination policy and practice is being implemented in Australia, and I request that you urgently address this matter....

Vaccination/immunisation is an important ethical and political issue.

We are on a slippery slope when potentially conflicted government vaccination bureaucracies dictate questionable medical interventions for citizens (including 'pre-citizens', i.e. children.)

http://users.on.net/~peter.hart/Letter_to_Warwick_Anderson_NHMRC_re_MMR_vaccination.pdf

RE: Vaccination policy and practice in Australia – lack of transparency and accountability

..... In fact, it is very surprising to discover that this advisory committee on the safety of vaccines is chaired by Dr Nicole Gilroy who, during the period 2005 to 2014, was also a member of ATAGI.¹³

Is it appropriate to have a person involved with the appraisal of vaccine products for the national schedule also to be in a position to evaluate post-marketing safety issues? I suggest that this is inappropriate and that there is a potential for conflict of interest.

http://www.phaa.net.au/documents/Nicole_Gilroy.pdf

Another example of lack of transparency is the Pharmaceutical Benefits Advisory Committee (PBAC) webpage¹⁴, which lists members of the PBAC and their affiliations, but again provides no clarity re potential conflicts of interest of these people.

Then there is the Australian Influenza Vaccine Committee (AVIC), which recommends influenza viruses to be used in the composition of influenza vaccines. Until recently there were no details of membership of this committee provided on the AVIC webpage on the TGA website, let alone disclosure of potential conflicts of interest. In March 2014 I requested that the TGA provide publicly accessible information about the membership of this committee on the TGA website. While there is now a list of members and affiliations, there is no information re potential conflicts of interest.¹⁵

These examples indicate there is a serious problem with a lack of disclosure of potential conflicts of interest that needs to be addressed. Inter-relationships between these groups should also be investigated. Historical information re previous members of these groups should also be publicly accessible on the relevant webpages.

CONFLICTS OF INTERESTS of Members of the Australian Technical and Advisory Group on Immunisation (ATAGI)

..... Extract: The ATAGI committee is responsible for providing immunisation advice to Australia's Health Minister, Tanya Plibersek. The chairman of this committee is Professor Terry Nolan. In addition he is also the deputy chairman of the National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC): the body that controls the funding and direction of research projects.

Professor Terry Nolan's conflicts of interests include being a member of a CSL vaccine advisory board (at some time) and receiving nominal payments (honoraria) as well as support for conference attendance from CSL Ltd, Novartis and GlaxoSmithKline²⁷. He was also the chief investigator of the clinical trial for CSL's Panvax influenza vaccine in 400 children in 2009²⁷ even though he was also on the government's primary advisory boards for policy-decision making at the time.

Professor Robert Booy is the co-director of the government National Centre for Immunisation Research and Surveillance (NCIRS). He is also a member of the government's advisory committee on influenza – the Influenza Specialist Group (ISG) that is 100% funded by industry²⁹. Whilst holding these positions he was also an investigator in the clinical trial for children's Panvax (H1N1) influenza vaccine in 2009 which was funded by CSL²⁷. He has received support from CSL limited and other pharmaceutical companies to attend conferences. He has been a representative on a vaccine advisory board for these companies at various times and has also received funding from Roche, Sanofi, GlaxoSmithKline and Wyeth for attending and presenting at scientific meetings²⁷. These activities are a conflict of interest with his role as a government policy advisor and director of the government's research and surveillance unit yet they are not revealed to the public.

Associate Professor Peter Richmond is a member of the government's Influenza Specialist Group (ISG) (a body that is 100% industry funded) and also a member of ATAGI. At other times he has been a representative on a CSL vaccine advisory board²⁸. At various times he has received nominal payments from CSL (honoraria) and he was also an investigator in the CSL funded clinical trial for Panvax vaccine in 2009²⁷. He was influential in implementing the Western Australian Influenza Vaccine Efficacy trial (WAIVE) for children in WA (2008 – 2013) that was funded by CSL and Sanofi – Pasteur (WA Health Dept. 2008). He stated in 2010 that 'I don't think investigators involved in clinical trials are working for CSL'²⁸.

Dr. Alan Hampson is the chairman of the Influenza Specialist Group (ISG) and he was previously the Research and Development Manager at CSL³⁰. He was instrumental in the formation and development of the ISG²⁹ and is a former deputy director of the World Health Organisation Collaborating Centre for Reference and Research on Influenza²⁹. He is also the Editor in Chief of the international journal Influenza and other Respiratory Viruses 29. He has a consultancy role with the WHO and the Australian Government 29.

Anne Kelso was a member of the ISG in 2010 and she had shares in CSL, Australia's only flu vaccine manufacturer. She was also in charge of the WHO influenza laboratory in Melbourne 31.

Profile

The ethical aspects of over-vaccination, particularly mandated vaccination, are of particular interest to me. The potential conflicts of interests of academics working in the areas of vaccine development and promotion, and the influence of these academics on government policy, needs to be examined.

I am not 'anti-vaccination'. Rather, I am challenging the increasing number of questionable vaccine products and repeat vaccinations being foisted upon children, adults and animals by the burgeoning and unfettered vaccine industry. There's a 'big picture' on lucrative over-vaccination which needs to be examined. I have a degree majoring in politics and philosophy, and experience in scientific literature searching. This background has assisted me in researching and lobbying on over-vaccination.

My interest in vaccination was initiated after I discovered companion animals were being unnecessarily revaccinated every year, and needlessly being subjected to the risk of an adverse reaction to vaccination. Along with my colleague Bea Mies, I have undertaken extensive investigation and correspondence on unnecessary vaccination of pets.

As a result of Bea's and my work in this area, over-vaccination of pets has come under the spotlight in Australia, see for example the review by consumer watchdog CHOICE: "Pet vaccination: Over-vaccinating your pet could be harmful to their health as well as your own hip pocket": <http://www.choice.com.au/reviews-and-tests/household/backyard/pets/pet-vaccination/page.aspx>

The ABC has also investigated this issue i.e. "Questions raised over pet vaccination": <http://www.abc.net.au/news/video/2010/10/01/3027666.htm?site=adelaide>

See my webpage Over-vaccination of pets - an unethical practice for further background: <http://over-vaccination.net/questionable-vaccines/pet-vax/>

My experience in investigating over-vaccination of pets is informing my investigation into lucrative over-vaccination of people, as there are interesting comparisons to be made. Dick Smith Australian Skeptics funds pro-vaccination advertisement - 6 August, 2009

Dick Smith has funded an advertisement placed in a national newspaper, The Australian, written by Australian Skeptics to alert parents to the dangers of the Australian anti-vaccination lobby.

Known as the Australian Vaccination Network (AVN), this group spreads misinformation and falsehoods about the safety and effectiveness of vaccines.

"Dick Smith Foods has funded this advertisement in the public interest, to ensure parents access unbiased, accurate advice from reputable medical sources. The Australian Vaccination Network is no such source," said Mr Smith.

Whilst publicly stating that they are "pro-choice" the AVN publishes information stating that vaccines contain toxic levels of metals such as mercury and aluminium and that they cause autism, cancer, SIDS, shaken baby syndrome, asthma and eczema. There is no scientific evidence to support their claims.

Parts of Australia have recently experienced epidemics of whooping cough resulting in the deaths of three babies, and this has partly been due to a reduction in the levels of vaccination. On the north coast of New South Wales where the AVN is based, the levels for vaccination are only 88% compared with the state average of 91%.

The speed at which the pro-vaccine forces are working to stomp out freedom of speech, freedom to learn and freedom of choice is simply staggering. Hijacking the media so they can take complete control of the message shows how far they are willing to go to censor information that is not lockstep with the Healthy People 2020 agenda. The plan is to vaccinate everyone, with few exceptions, allowing only difficult to obtain medical exemptions. More >

Mia Freedman stars in NSW Health Immunisation spot

<http://www.campaignbrief.com/2014/09/mia-freedman-stars-in-nsw-heal.html>

Civil society works because there are certain lines that we don't normally cross. Bowditch crosses those lines on a regular basis and the fact that Mia Freedman and members of Stop the AVN and the Australian Skeptics cannot seem to see that is a disturbing insight into their worldview and bears examination. If people from the Australian Skeptics and SAVN can look up to or admire a man like Bowditch, how low do they have to be? I feel that people who cannot see what is inherently vile and disturbing about Bowditch's rhetoric could be capable of anything.

Let me repeat – this man has a regular blog on Mia Freedman's Mamamia page; he writes on various news websites and makes himself out to be an expert on many health issues which, by all available evidence, he knows nothing about. And he regularly abuses, assaults and bullies those who disagree with him!

Should this be allowed to continue? Should this person be allowed to keep his position with organisations like the Australian Skeptics, Stop the AVN, Mamamia, etc?

I say no. And I say that these groups should immediately and publicly come out to distance themselves from him and repudiate his brutal way of dealing with those whose opinions he disagrees with. Vilification and bigotry have no place in Australia.

More on Mia Freedman who is part of the Vaccination Lobby

Mia Freedman - allegedly yet another mouthpiece for Big Pharma/Vaccine Industries

The Mia Freedman website 'Mamamia' regularly presents articles on vaccination written by subscribers of the Australian Skeptics groups. Many of the individuals who comment on vaccination on this website do not have qualifications in science, public health, vaccination science or policy development. Authors who have written articles on vaccination on this website include Peter Bowditch, Mia Freedman, Chrys Stevenson and Rick Morton and Rachael Dunlop. Misinformation is being provided by these authors and the public is not informed about their affiliation with the Australian Skeptics.

In 2013, Health Minister, Tanya Plibersek signed a vaccination pledge (to increase community vaccination rates) on Mia Freedman's Mamamia website: a website that is associated with the Australian

Skeptics lobby group. This is not how public policy should be developed. Public concerns about the number of vaccines on the childhood schedule are not being acknowledged by journalists or the Australian Government and Tanya Plibersek, “rubbished fear campaigns about the risk of immunisation” in media articles instead of providing evidence for their safety and efficacy. By ignoring the public’s concerns the government is selecting the science that is being used in government policy. This doesn’t make the schedule of vaccines ‘safe and effective.’ A consensus in science is not to be obtained by removing scientific evidence from the risk/benefit equation. <http://vaccinationdecisions.net/lobby-groups/>

Judy Wilyman - Vaccination Decisions: Know Your Vaccines

The truth behind vaccinations. What the government doesn't tell you.

I have a Bachelor of Science degree and I have practised as a science teacher for 20 years. In 2004 I began researching this public health issue at the University of Wollongong (UOW). I completed a Master of Science degree (Population Health) in the Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences in 2007. This included a research project analysing the Australian Government’s Policy on Whooping Cough. In 2007 I continued my research with a PhD but the health faculty transferred this research to Science and Technology Studies (STS) in the Faculty of Arts (Humanities) because of the political nature of vaccination policies.

In 2008 – 2010 I transferred to the Environmental Science Department at Murdoch University to research and lecture in environmental health issues. I transferred back to Wollongong University in 2011 to complete my PhD investigating the Australian government’s reasons for its current National Immunisation Program (NIP). The School of Humanities and Social Inquiry at UOW has been incorporated into the Faculty of Law, Humanities and the Arts. My PhD includes an examination of the science in the government’s vaccination policy and a critique of the political and cultural influences in the decision to use an increasing number of vaccines in children. In 2013 a new Faculty of Social Sciences was created at UOW and Public Health was transferred from the Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences to Social Sciences.

Articles on Australian Skeptic's and SAVN Lobby Groups

Judy Wilyman of Vaccination Decisions writes: Professor Brian Martin, my PhD supervisor at the University of Wollongong, has written several articles on the strategies being used by lobby groups to deter citizens from speaking against the use of multiple vaccines in infants. Here are the links to some of his articles:

The Inappropriate Behaviour of a Medical Professional (2014)

After I started presenting my research to the public in 2010 I was targeted by lobby groups who were disparaging my research with fabricated information. Many lobby groups are funded by industry to promote industry interests. The subscribers of the Australian Skeptics lobby groups did not debate the science, they provided false information to the mainstream media and social media, in an attempt to discredit my research. Here is a sample of some of the disinformation that is being spread by lobby group subscribers in Australia and the strategies they are using to confuse the public about the science of vaccination. The Australian media, of which >70% is now owned by Murdoch's News Ltd Corporation, is allowing individuals from lobby groups to promote their opinions of vaccination without requiring them to acknowledge their affiliations with particular lobby groups or providing balanced coverage of the vaccination debate.

<http://vaccinationdecisions.net/subscribers-of-the-skeptics/>

Media Reporting of Vaccines

Media Reporting of the Vaccination Debate

In Australia many journalists are refusing to present the scientific evidence published in peer-reviewed journals that questions the use of many vaccines. Jane Hansen, a journalist for News Ltd, stated she would not report on the research I presented at the 3rd World Congress on Cancer Science and Therapy (San Francisco, October 2013). My paper was titled 'HPV vaccines have not been shown to be cost-effective in countries with comprehensive Pap screening and surgery' and it was published in the journal Infectious Agents and Cancer (June 12 2013 Vol 8: 21).

The reason Jane Hansen stated for not reporting on this published research was because I am not a medical doctor and she believed it was part of a 'conspiracy agenda'. Yet my researched information had also been published in the conference proceedings for the British Society of Ecological Medicine (BSEM 2011) and reported on the ABC in the On-line Health Report in 2011 Evidence for HPV Vaccination Questioned.

Another News Ltd journalist, Rick Morton, did report on the presentation I gave at the US Cancer Science and Therapy conference but he focused on the funding provided by the university and he provided unsupported statements that mislead the public about the validity of the information I presented. Here is a link to the misinformation provided by Rick Morton, in the Australian Newspaper (28 January 2014). In other words, journalists are selecting the academic research they will present to the public with validity.

Australia Vaccination Crackdown: No One Is Exempted Anymore

April 20 2015

Australian parents are now required to have their children vaccinated, as the federal government abolished the exemptions enjoyed by a lone religious organisation.

On Sunday, Social services minister Scott Morrison announced the exemption the religious group that calls itself Christian Scientists "is no longer current or necessary and will therefore be removed." Children of members of the religious organisation enjoyed exemptions from being vaccinated from 1998. "Having resolved this outstanding matter, the government will not be receiving nor authorising any further vaccination exemption applications from religious organisations," Morrison added.

With the removal, an Australian parent's only excuse left for not wanting his/her child getting vaccinated is to cite medical grounds. But this has to be consulted with a doctor.

Among the listed valid reasons in a qualifying form that states a child can legally forego vaccines in Australia include the onset of a brain disease within the first seven days after a previous vaccination, an allergy to a preservative or antibiotic ingredient present in the vaccines, "unstable neurological disease" and "immediate severe acute allergic or anaphylactic reaction after any previous vaccination."

At the same time, Australia launched a AU$26 million package to boost the rates of child vaccinations in the country.

The package included the foundation of a national school vaccination register, as well as financial incentives for doctors to remind and pursue Australian parents with overdue children to get their immunisations.

Health Minister Sussan Ley said the new measures will be part of the May 12 federal budget.

"We need to make sure that the information is available through general practitioners to explain to those parents who are hesitant, who are getting complex and complicated information and, quite honestly, hearing some crackpot ideas about what happens if you vaccinate children," the AFP quoted Ley telling reporters. "In fact, what happens is your children maintain immunity from diseases that can either kill or give lifetime difficulties."

Government data showed over 39,000 children aged 7 years old and below have not been vaccinated because of their parents' objections, while some 166,000 children in 2014 were overdue for their vaccinations for over two months.

Poll Backfires on Murdoch's Pro-Vaccine Agenda

17 April, 2015

Vaccine pusher Rupert Murdoch's own media outlet gloats about high percentage of parents wanting Mandatory Vaccines for Children when the poll in the very article talking about it shows the complete opposite!

By General Maddox

A war is currently being fought by the anti-vaccine movement to protect and preserve your freedom to make an informed choice on vaccinations. Particularly the issue on forced childhood vaccinations.

Leading the onslaught is Rupert Murdoch and his trove of tabloid papers and news outlets. What his media empire won't reveal is his and his family's heavy ties to the pharmaceutical industry. It's blatantly obvious as to why he pushes for forced vaccinations. Money.

However, In a stunning show of Orwellian Doublespeak The Daily Telegraph, a Murdoch owned media outlet, published an article titled Galaxy Poll: 86 per cent of Australians want childhood vaccinations to be compulsory.

The article includes their own poll for readers to take with the results shown after casting your vote.

Same corporations that manufacture vaccines are killing half a million people annually with deadly psychiatric drugs

Wednesday, June 24, 2015 by: Jonathan Benson, staff writer

Tags: vaccines, Big Pharma, psychiatric drugs

Psychiatric medications are not only useless, but they're responsible for killing at least 500,000 people aged 65 years and older every single year. This is the shocking conclusion of a new meta-analysis published in the British Medical Journal (BMJ) that challenges the widely held belief that antidepressants and dementia drugs are safe and effective for treating mental health issues.

Researchers from Denmark's Nordic Cochrane Centre broke the disturbing news after poring through loads of published data on this class of drugs and finding that virtually none of it is suggestive of either safety or efficacy. To the contrary, nearly every placebo-controlled trial used by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in justifying the legal prescription of psych meds shows minimal or no benefits.

The paper revealed that virtually every randomized trial ever conducted that involved psych meds failed to properly evaluate the drugs' effects in users. The "control" groups in these bogus studies, it turns out, were made up of folks who were previously taking other psychiatric drugs, rendering any and all findings moot. And yet these were the very studies that U.S. regulators used to approve such drugs as "safe and effective."

"Patients, who after a short wash-out period are randomized to placebo, go 'cold turkey' and often experience withdrawal symptoms," wrote the paper's authors. "This design exaggerates the benefits of treatment and increases the harms in the placebo group, and it has driven patients taking placebo to suicide in trials in schizophrenia."

Blatant manipulation of antidepressant clinical trials led to fake results, widespread death

Drug companies donated millions to California lawmakers before vaccine debate

Industry gave more than $2 million to current lawmakers in 2013-14

Opponents of SB 277 link supporters to pharmaceutical donations

Drug companies report no involvement in vaccine legislation

JUNE 18, 2015 Damian Dovarganes AP BY JIM MILLER jmiller@sacbee.com

A subplot to the vociferous debate over the student vaccination bill moving through California's Capitol is opponents' allegations that the effort reflects the influence of the pharmaceutical industry.

Critics of Senate Bill 277, which would eliminate the personal belief and religious exemptions for schoolchildren, accuse the measure's supporters in the Legislature of doing the bidding of donors who make vaccines and other pharmaceuticals.

The bill's proponents and drug companies dismiss the charge. The companies' lobbyist filings for the first quarter of this year as well as legislative committee reports show no connection between the pharmaceutical industry and SB 277.

"We aren't pushing this bill behind the scenes," said Priscilla VanderVeer, the senior director for communications for the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America, known as PhRMA, the industry's main trade group. The group has not taken any position on SB 277, although the group has long backed vaccinations as sound public health policy, she said.

Other legislation has a more direct bearing on the industry, and it is an active political player. Pharmaceutical companies and their trade groups gave more than $2 million to current members of the Legislature in 2013-2014, about 2 percent of the total raised, records show. Nine of the top 20 recipients are either legislative leaders or serve on either the Assembly or Senate health committees. Receiving more than $95,000, the top recipient of industry campaign cash is Sen. Richard Pan, a Sacramento Democrat and doctor who is carrying the vaccine bill.

In addition, the industry donated more than $500,000 to outside campaign spending groups that helped elect some current members last year.

Pharmaceutical companies also spent nearly $3 million more during the 2013-2014 legislative session lobbying the Legislature, the governor, the state pharmacists' board and other agencies, according to state filings.

The $ Amount It Took Big Pharma To Strip Your Parental Rights, is Evil

SB277 passed. And some political campaigns got richer and more powerful in the mean time. But let's start with the spin factory. (this disgust me)

(via sacbee) "We aren't pushing this bill behind the scenes," said Priscilla VanderVeer, the senior director for communications for the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America, known as PhRMA, the industry's main trade group. The group has not taken any position on SB 277, although the group has long backed vaccinations as sound public health policy, she said.

This statement from VanderVeer is absolutely absurd and panders to the lowest denominations of our society's intelligence. Who would believe this stuff? This can't be real life.

Sen. Richard Pan, a Sacramento Democrat, himself nabbed $95,000 during the 2013-14 year. That's a serious amount of cash from Pharmaceutical companies who just don't seem to care about mandatory vaccinations, no? I wonder what policies he supports which they enjoy? It couldn't be a more transparent situation.

The overall spend from Big Pharma was $3 million to lobby legislature, the governor and the state pharmacists' board. Again, a lot of cash for a group that isn't "pushing the bill behind the scenes."

State records show that pharmaceutical companies and trade groups donated more than $2 million to current lawmakers in 2013-2014.

Courtesy of the Sac Bee, this is a total joke. I hope everyone who supported this bill understands what these numbers mean. And when Big Pharma comes calling for more mandatory drugs, like forced SSRI treatment to depressed kids, please understand where it all started.

Public Health Officials Know: Recently Vaccinated Individuals Spread Disease

Tuesday, 3 Mar 2015

Globe Newswire

Washington, D.C., March 3, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Physicians and public health officials know that recently vaccinated individuals can spread disease and that contact with the immunocompromised can be especially dangerous. For example, the Johns Hopkins Patient Guide warns the immunocompromised to "Avoid contact with children who are recently vaccinated," and to "Tell friends and family who are sick, or have recently had a live vaccine (such as chicken pox, measles, rubella, intranasal influenza, polio or smallpox) not to visit."¹

A statement on the website of St. Jude's Hospital warns parents not to allow people to visit children undergoing cancer treatment if they have received oral polio or smallpox vaccines within four weeks, have received the nasal flu vaccine within one week, or have rashes after receiving the chickenpox vaccine or MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) vaccine.²

"The public health community is blaming unvaccinated children for the outbreak of measles at Disneyland, but the illnesses could just as easily have occurred due to contact with a recently vaccinated individual," says Sally Fallon Morell, president of the Weston A. Price Foundation. The Foundation promotes a healthy diet, non-toxic lifestyle and freedom of medical choice for parents and their children. "Evidence indicates that recently vaccinated individuals should be quarantined in order to protect the public."

The Current Failure of Pertussis and Measles Vaccine

The pertussis vaccine has become a major failure, and as well at times the measles vaccine; the mumps vaccine as well; with outbreaks occurring in the fully vaccinated. It is long past time for the CDC to stop fabricating their stories; and falsely blaming the unvaccinated when in many cases the largest part of these outbreaks were in the fully vaccinated. They have gone to cocoon style vaccinating of entire families and pushing harder the pertussis vaccine as well on the adult schedule and it all has failed, and the CDC known it has failed. In fact due to the vaccine as well the B parapertussis strain, (not in the vaccine) has become stronger and the more dominant pathogen and is involved with this, and not enough confirmation testing is done to even realize that fact in many cases.

As well, it is the vaccinated that are a risk to the unvaccinated and the general population, due to vaccine shedding. This is another issue the CDC needs to come clean on and admit the truth.

UK Drug Safety Agency Falsified Vaccine Safety Data For 6 Million – Millions of Children At Serious Risk

People are absolutely disgusted with those revolving doors between Corporations/Industries and Government and the political donations from those with 'agendas to secure and maintain'.

Take this one for example, 'CDC "recommendations" like these are worth their weight in gold to Big Pharma companies like Merck, and one of the persons making those recommendations was Julie Gerberding, CDC Director from 2002 to 2009. Gerberding resigned her government post and – after a mandatory delay of a year and a day – became President of Merck's Vaccine Division in January 2010. Before going through the BigPharma/CDC revolving door, however, her "Report to Congress 'Prevention of Genital Human Papillomavirus [HPV] Infection' paved the way for eventual approval of Merck's Gardasil vaccine, guaranteeing billions in profits for her future employer. Perhaps the vaccine presidency is Julie's reward for cementing the relationship between government and Merck via the CDC, the agency that behaves as the de facto marketing arm of the vaccine industry. Another gift to Merck under Gerberding's management has been the CDC's continual denial that there is any link between the mercury-based preservative, thimerosal, and autism on the small scale; and vaccinations and autism on the large scale. Recent CDC reports place the incidence of autism at 1 in 110 children, four times higher than previous estimates. A major key to the viability of future vaccines in the pipeline is the tacit denial of any link of autism to the heavy metal, or vaccines in general, now or in the future."

Homeland Security Stockpiling Billions of Dollars of Experimental Vaccines

Project “Bioshield” allows the U.S. Government to stockpile billions of dollars worth of experimental vaccines that have never been approved by the FDA to be used on American Citizens when the government declares a state of emergency.

Brian Shilhavy

Health Impact News Editor

The U.S. Government has guaranteed a thriving U.S. vaccine market for pharmaceutical companies by purchasing billions of dollars worth of vaccines every year with U.S. taxpayer dollars.

As we have previously reported, the CDC (U.S. Government Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) is the largest purchaser of vaccines in the U.S., spending over $4 billion annually to purchase vaccines that are approved by the FDA. Since the CDC is the government agency responsible for overseeing vaccine safety, this creates a huge conflict of interest.

The pharmaceutical industry wants higher profits through longer monopolies and less-regulated markets.

Author: Deborah Gleeson and Pat Neuwelt

16/04/2015

The pharmaceutical industry wants higher profits through longer monopolies and less-regulated markets.

The American business community's spin machine has gone into overdrive as the finish line for the Trans Pacific Partnership negotiations come into view. One of the more over-the-top examples of recent hype is an open love letter to the TPP posted on an American industry lobby website just before Valentine's Day.

The love letter, posted on the Global Intellectual Property Centre website, seems at first glance simply harmless (though certainly charmless) hyperbole. But in amongst phrases like "I'd be a fool not to cross the Pacific for you" is a demand that strikes fear into the hearts of those concerned with access to affordable medicines. What the pharmaceutical industry is proposing is that it be provided with 12 years of absolute monopoly – seven years longer than the current data protection period in Australia – during which it can charge whatever the market will bear.

Each year of extra monopoly protection would cost Australia's Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme hundreds of millions of dollars.

Profits, Not Science, Motivate Vaccine Mandates

By Kristine M. Severyn, Ph.D.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP), a group of individuals hand-picked by members of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), recommends which vaccines are administered to American children. Working mainly in secret, ACIP members frequently have financial links to vaccine manufacturers. Dependent on federal CDC funding, administrators of state vaccination programs follow CDC directives by influencing state legislators to mandate new vaccines. Federal vaccine funds can be denied to states that do not “vigorously enforce” mandatory vaccination laws.

Conversely, the CDC offers financial bounties to state departments of health for each “fully vaccinated” child. In a recent year, the Ohio Department of Health received $1 million in such CDC bonus payments. At CDC national immunization conferences, Merck and other vaccine manufacturers wine and dine thousands of attendees who make their living promoting and administering vaccines.

Are physicians beholden?

The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), a major supporter of mandatory chicken pox and other vaccine mandates across the country, shares incestuous financial ties with Merck. When constructing its new headquarters in suburban Chicago, the AAP solicited funds from Merck, and received $100,000 for its building campaign.

Vaccines represent an economic boon for pediatricians. Profitable well-baby visits are timed to coincide with vaccination schedules established by the AAP and the CDC.

Corrupt to the Core

Conflicts of Interest in Vaccine Policy Making

Vaccine Info Net

Majority Staff Report

Committee on Government Reform

U.S. House of Representatives

June 15, 2000

http://www.vaccineinfo.net/issues/conflictinterest/conflicts_of_interest.shtml

Section I

Introduction

In August 1999, the Committee on Government Reform initiated an investigation into Federal vaccine policy. Over the last six months, this investigation has focused on possible conflicts of interest on the part of Federal policy-makers. Committee staff has conducted an extensive review of financial disclosure forms and related documents, and interviewed key officials from the Department of Health and Human Services, including the Food and Drug Administration and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

This staff report focuses on two influential advisory committees utilized by Federal regulators to provide expert advice on vaccine policy:

1. The FDA's Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee (VRBPAC); and
2. The CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunizations Practices (ACIP).

The VRBPAC advises the FDA on the licensing of new vaccines, while the ACIP advises the CDC on guidelines to be issued to doctors and the states for the appropriate use of vaccines.

Members of the advisory committees are required to disclose any financial conflicts of interest and recuse themselves from participating in decisions in which they have an interest. The Committee's investigation has determined that conflict of interest rules employed by the FDA and the CDC have been weak, enforcement has been lax, and committee members with substantial ties to pharmaceutical companies have been given waivers to participate in committee proceedings. Among the specific problems identified in this staff report:

§ The CDC routinely grants waivers from conflict of interest rules to every member of its advisory committee.

§ CDC Advisory Committee members who are not allowed to vote on certain recommendations due to financial conflicts of interest are allowed to participate in committee deliberations and advocate specific positions.

§ The Chairman of the CDC's advisory committee until very recently owned 600 shares of stock in Merck, a pharmaceutical company with an active vaccine division.

§ Members of the CDC's advisory Committee often fill out incomplete financial disclosure statements, and are not required to provide the missing information by CDC ethics officials.

§ Four out of eight CDC advisory committee members who voted to approve guidelines for the rotavirus vaccine in June 1998 had financial ties to pharmaceutical companies that were developing different versions of the vaccine.

§ 3 out of 5 FDA advisory committee members who voted to approve the rotavirus vaccine in December 1997 had financial ties to pharmaceutical companies that were developing different versions of the vaccine.

Taking a Stand: 22,000 Nurses Refuse “Mandatory” Vaccinations

28 Jun, 2016 in Health

If you are a nurse in the US and refuse the flu vaccine (one the CDC has even admitted doesn't always work, largely due to fast mutations and too slow of production) then you have to wear a face mask while on duty. Despite the fact that multiple studies have also shown that flu vaccinations are ineffective and do not offer any extra protection for hospital patients, hospitals are forcing the issue on some of their most prized employees.

Some nurses are choosing to lose their jobs instead of being forced into receiving a vaccine. Others are fighting back by suing the hospital, state, and federal governments for $100,000,000 for trying to take away their constitutional rights.

Dr. Karen Sullivan Sibert, herself a pro-vaccine doctor, wrote an opinion piece explaining how requiring nurses to wear masks for refusing the flu vaccination violates HIPAA law for patient privacy. More importantly, it forces our front lines in the healthcare industry to take a concoction with numerous questionable ingredients, including known neurotoxins like aluminum, foreign proteins derived from GM ingredients, and more.

There are in fact, more than 22,000 nurses, part of Nurses against Mandatory Vaccines (NAMV), who are refusing mandatory vaccines. NAMV was founded when mandatory vaccines were introduced in the workplace, and though it is not pro-vaccine OR anti-vaccine, it is certainly pro-CHOICE. NAMV members believe that all people should have the right to choose and refuse medical treatment, including nurses and healthcare workers.

Why the big push for flu vaccines, anyhow? Publicly available information now shows that hospital systems are REQUIRED to have a 90% or higher flu shot reception rate among their staff, or they lose up to 2% of their funding of Medicare/Medicaid. Conflict of interest?

While the government itself does not require mandatory vaccination policies, many if not all are taking an “all or nothing” stance against their workers. Healthcare workers are now facing being fired if they refuse a flu vaccine. Not only is this a human rights violation, it is also an EEOC violation.

Furthermore, the response to skewed figures which show that about 30,000 people die from the flu every year are used to muddy the waters. This is only an estimation, with pneumonia and other diseases lumped in together with the flu – there is no vaccine for pneumonia, and most flu strains change before a new vaccine can be made to effectively treat them anyhow. What's more, the most vulnerable victims are infants and the elderly.

Many more people die each year from medical errors, heart disease, diabetes, and other health complications. NAMV argues that, though it has been suggested that mandatory flu vaccines are for “patient safety,” mandatory flu vaccine policies are to provide more funding and money for the vaccine companies who produce these drugs. Flu vaccines are argued to be just another money train for Big Pharma.

It is refreshing to see that nurses and other healthcare workers are standing up against forced medical procedures.

The Herd Immunity Theory

According to Longmont Clinic, whole cell DPT causes brain damage in 1 in every 140,000 children - 'Convulsions occur in 1 of 1750 vaccinations. Pertussis vaccine has also been associated with acute encephalopathy with permanent brain damage. Serious neurologic illness associated with whole cell pertussis vaccine is estimated at 1 in 140,000 - <http://www.longmontclinic.com/Resources/A%20Guide%20to%20Childhood%20Immunizations>

This is a truly SHOCKING figure. Although they argue that DTaP has now been developed that cuts the risk, but it only reduces MILD reactions, not serious ones. A data sheet for DTaP vaccine states:

‘Herd Immunity’: the misplaced driver of universal vaccination

The term, ‘herd immunity’, was coined by researcher, A W Hedrich, after he’d studied the epidemiology of measles in USA between 1900-1931. His study published in the May, 1933 American Journal of Epidemiology concluded that when 68% of children younger than 15 yrs old had become immune to measles via infection, measles epidemics ceased. For several reasons, this natural, pre-vaccine herd immunity differed greatly from today’s vaccine ‘herd immunity’.^{1,2}

“Herd Immunity.” The flawed science and failures of mass vaccination, Suzanne Humphries, MD

– JULY 5, 2012

POSTED IN: ARTICLES

The oft-parroted sound bite – “we need herd immunity”- implies that if ninety five percent of the population can become “immune” to a disease via vaccination, target immunity levels will be met and diseases will either be eradicated or controlled.

This sound bite is the most commonly pulled weapon used by the vaccinators, only second to “smallpox and polio were eradicated by vaccination.” “Herd immunity” is the trump card for the defense of vaccination on TV, Internet, medical journals and newspapers as to why we should be vaccinated over and over throughout our lives, with an ever-increasing number of vaccines.

Paul Offit smiled and PLAYED THE CARD (<http://www.colbertnation.com/the-colbert-report-videos/372812/january-31-2011/paul-offit>) while peddling his book on the comedy central channel as Steven Colbert jokingly said, “if the vaccines work so good for you, why do I need one?” Dr. Mark Segal PULLED IT (<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jCFOXaPFkpk>) on fox news as Mary Holland, JD eloquently described the issue of vaccine injury and loss of legal recourse in an era of forced and mandated vaccines.

In addition to flaunting several false allegations and sound bites, Dr. Segal’s well-rehearsed rant brushed right over the issue at hand, the fact that victims of vaccine injury have no legal right to sue – and instead launched into his agenda of scaring the listeners by parroting the “herd immunity” dogma.

Herd Immunity: Three Reasons Why I Don’t Vaccinate My Children... And Why Vaccine Supporters Shouldn’t Care That I Use Vaccine Exemption Form

Parents who choose not to vaccinate their children and protect them with vaccine exemption forms are often chastised and stereotyped for putting their own kids at risk. But what is even stranger than this assault on individual freedom and informed choice, is that these concerned parents are attacked for putting vaccinated children at risk.

These attacks are based on the theory of “herd immunity.” This hypothesis was plucked out of an old college textbook. It states that the more people are immune to an infectious agent, the less likely an immune-compromised individual is to come in contact with it. In other words herd immunity serves as a human shield – a type of immunity – for “at-risk” individuals. But remember, it’s only a hypothesis.

When outbreaks arise among children, health officials are quick to state that it’s due to a breakdown in ‘herd immunity.’ Doctors parrot it too, without even looking at the research. They say it’s happening more often nationwide as states make it easier for parents to opt out of vaccinations.

Like argumentative apes, pro-vaccine parents and their physicians start pounding their chest in favor of such statements. They use them to attack anti-vaccine parents, accusing them of “putting vaccinated kids at risk due to a breakdown in herd immunity.”

This is fuzzy logic. And it’s borderline stupid.

After all, if vaccines truly worked, then why would vaccinated kids be at risk?

...Plus, the spread of infection isn’t limited to coming into contact with another person! You can get sick without ever seeing another individual. Therefore, herd immunity is nothing more than a silly catch-phrase used to scare and bully parents into vaccinating their kids. Don’t fall for it parents, keep using the vaccine exemption forms to legally avoid them.

The Deadly Impossibility of Herd Immunity Through Vaccination

By VaccineThis | Posted September 10, 2014

This is in response to 9/10/2014 PBS Fraudulent Vaccination Documentary "Infomercial" which they are desperately trying to sell to the American Public.

Here are the True Facts of Herd Immunity - By Russell L. Blaylock, M.D.

Those who are observant have noticed a dangerous trend in the United States, as well as worldwide, and that is the resorting of various governments at different levels to mandating forced vaccination upon the public at large. My State of Mississippi has one of the most-restrictive vaccine-exemption laws in the United States, where exemptions are allowed only upon medical recommendation. Ironically, this is only on paper, as many have had as many as three physicians, some experts in neurological damage caused by vaccines, provide written calls for exemption, only to be turned down by the State's public-health officer.

Worse are the States, such as Massachusetts, New Jersey and Maryland, where forced vaccinations have either been mandated by the courts, the state legislature, or have such legislation pending. All of such policies strongly resemble those policies found in National Socialist empires, Stalinist countries, or Communist China.

When public-health officers are asked for the legal justification for such draconian measures as forcing people to accept vaccines that they deem either a clear and present danger to themselves and their loved ones or have had personal experience with serious adverse reactions to such vaccines, they usually resort to the need to protect the public.

One quickly concludes that if the vaccines are as effective as being touted by the public-health officials, then why should one fear the unvaccinated? Obviously the vaccinated would have at least 95% protection. This question puts them in a very difficult position. Their usual response is that a "small" percentage of the vaccinated will not have sufficient protection and would still be at risk. Now, if they admit what the literature shows, that vaccine failure rates are much higher than the 5% they claim, they must face the next obvious question – then why should anyone take the vaccine if there is a significant chance it will not protect?

When pressed further, they then resort to their favorite justification, the Holy Grail of the vaccine proponents – herd immunity. This concept is based upon the idea that 95% (and some now say 100%) of the population must be vaccinated to prevent an epidemic. The percentages needing vaccination grows progressively. I pondered this question for some time before the answer hit me. Herd immunity is mostly a myth and applies only to natural immunity – that is, contracting the infection itself.

MEASLES SPREAD BY THE VACCINATED: MAY BE A GREATER DANGER THAN YOU EVER KNEW! Dr. Robert Rowen

Worried about measles? If you are vaccinated, you should be. If you are my age, and were lucky enough to get wild measles, you needn't worry at all.

Measles has been quite stubborn to be wiped out. In China, in one province, 99% of children are vaccinated but measles runs strong.

You don't have to be a rocket scientist to figure that one out. Clearly measles vaccine doesn't work as advertised. In fact, in our own country, outbreak after outbreak has occurred in what has been called a fully vaccinated population. (See: A measles outbreak at a college with a prematriculation immunization requirement. Am J Public Health. 1991 Mar ;81(3):360-4. PMID:1994745.)

I wrote long ago that we are setting up the younger generation for a potential calamity. See, vaccines give you plastic immunity. They build up only one line of your immune system, the antibody system, and put the main immune system (cellular immunity) to sleep. You need both for fully developed immunity.

Vaccine immunity has been shown to wane with time. And sadly, current measles outbreaks are being blamed on parents who refuse to give immune damaging vaccines to their children, when Chinese and American data shows otherwise.

You won't hear the latter in the news though, but I will tell you! If I had a school age child now, I'd rush him over to the house with measles (or chicken pox, etc.) to play games there. When my child would get measles, I'd give plenty of vitamin A and also ozone therapy. I'd run the virus out in about half the time or less (by experience with other viruses).

Vaccine Shedding - apparently after more and more people were going to the website to view this - the Hospital removed the section telling the patients to avoid contact with recently vaccinated people.

Rhett's grandfather is a medical doctor and a consultant to GlaxoSmithKline.

Excerpts:

It is vaccinated children – not unvaccinated children – that immunocompromised people like Rhett, who is recovering from chemotherapy treatments for his leukemia, are advised to stay away from. Check out what is written on page 113 of this Johns Hopkins patient guide for recovering cancer patients:

Can I have visitors?

- Tell friends and family who are sick, or have recently had a live vaccine (such as chicken pox, measles, rubella, intranasal influenza, polio or smallpox) not to visit.
- Avoid contact with children who were recently vaccinated.

Prompted by his father, Carl Krawitt, he is asking the government to restrict parents' rights to choose whether or not their children are vaccinated.

But what the dozens of prominent stories on the heartwarming – or alternately heartbreaking – case on Rhett Krawitt DON'T discuss, however, is that Rhett's grandfather is a medical doctor and a consultant to GlaxoSmithKline.

That's a conflict of interest, no matter how unimportant it may seem.

Vermont gastroenterologist Dr. Edward Krawitt, MD, who specializes in hepatitis cases, has been a paid consultant to GSK for years. It shows up in Glaxo disclosures, and in the fine-print conflict of interest reports in Dr. Krawitt's scientific papers – but it doesn't factor into the media debate on twisting arms and forcing parents to vaccinate in California and, perhaps, the rest of the country.

That part is the dirty little secret. Or, alternately, the boring detail not worth mentioning.

But it makes a difference – not just in the public example being made of Rhett Krawitt, but in the Big Pharma-funded politicians who are pushing the bill through in California.

State Senator and Pediatrician Dr. Richard Pan

Predictably, but unfortunately, California's bill to force vaccinations despite religious and philosophical beliefs – ostensibly guaranteed by the 1st Amendment – has been introduced by a pediatrician and state senator with ties to the vaccine industry.

Dr. Pan was among more than two dozen California lawmakers who received campaign donations on record from Merck in the 2010 election cycle, ahead of supporting a 2011 law allowing girls as young as 12 years old to receive Gardasil vaccinations for HPV (manufactured by Merck) without parental consent.

Now, Dr. Pan is insisting that parents should have no say in whether kindergartners and other school aged children should receive vaccinations either:

Dr. Richard Pan, a pediatrician and Senator representing Sacramento and Senator Ben Allen, the former Board President of the Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District will introduce legislation that will repeal the personal belief exemption that currently allows parents to effectively opt their child out of vaccines in our schools.

“As a pediatrician, I've been worried about the anti-vaccination trend for a long time,” said Dr. Richard Pan, a State Senator representing Sacramento. “I've personally witnessed the suffering caused by these preventable diseases and I am very grateful to the many parents that are now speaking up and letting us know that our current laws don't protect their kids.”

VAXXED FROM COVER-UP TO CATASTROPHE

In 2013, biologist Dr. Brian Hooker received a call from a Senior Scientist at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) who led the agency's 2004 study on the Measles-Mumps-Rubella (MMR) vaccine and its link to autism.

The scientist, Dr. William Thompson, confessed that the CDC had omitted crucial data in their final report that revealed a causal relationship between the MMR vaccine and autism. Over several months, Dr. Hooker records the phone calls made to him by Dr. Thompson who provides the confidential data destroyed by his colleagues at the CDC.

Dr. Hooker enlists the help of Dr. Andrew Wakefield, the British gastroenterologist falsely accused of starting the anti-vax movement when he first reported in 1998 that the MMR vaccine may cause autism. In his ongoing effort to advocate for children's health, Wakefield directs this documentary examining the evidence behind an appalling cover-up committed by the government agency charged with protecting the health of American citizens.

Interviews with pharmaceutical insiders, doctors, politicians, and parents of vaccine-injured children reveal an alarming deception that has contributed to the skyrocketing increase of autism and potentially the most catastrophic epidemic of our lifetime.

The 13 Most Evil US Government Human Experiments

Robert Wabash |

August 8, 2012

The U.S. Government has been caught conducting an insane amount of vile, inhumane and grisly experiments on humans without their consent and often without their knowledge. So in light of recent news of the U.S. infecting Guatemalans with STDs, here are the 13 most evil, for lack of a better word, cases of human-testing as conducted by the United States of America.
